CHIEF ENGINEER OF FIRE DEPARTMENT'S REPORT.

Another year has passed with no fires of any account in our town.

FISKE FREE LIBRARY.

The success of the Fiske Free Library since it came under the charge of a board of Trustees, has been quite gratifying to them, and especially so since the removal of the Library to its present quarters. Before the removal the whole number of persons who had taken books was less than eight hundred. At the time of the removal a new register was opened, and up to the 5th inst., eighteen hundred and forty-four names of readers had been entered upon it. At the same date there were eight hundred and twenty-seven books in the hands of readers.

The Librarian, Miss Abbie Field, has performed her duties in a manner entirely satisfactory to the Trustees, and as they have good reason to believe, to the general, if not to the universal, satisfaction of the people of the town. Every rule established for her guidance and for the taking out, treatment and return of books, &c. has been enforced without any discrimination in favor of any one; and when fines and penalalties have been incurred they have been collected. No books have been lost nor destroyed during the last year.

The town is under especial obligation to Mr. Clarence F. Jewett, late of Claremont, now of Boston, for a contribution of very valuable books to the Library viz. "Memorial History of Boston," four volumes, of which he was the projector, and "History of Worcester County, Mass.," two volumes, elegantly executed, illustrated and bound, and thirty-two volumes of miscellaneous books. Several other books have been donated to the Library, and amongst them a complete set of the "Missionary Herald," by Mr. N. W. Goddard.

Below will be found a detailed statement of the financial condition of the Library, which we doubt not, will be quite satisfactory to the town.

REPORT OF STEVENS HIGH SCHOOL COMMITTEE.

In presenting to the town a report of the present condition of Stevens High School, the Committee, with great confidence, can give assurance that the noble work of this institution has lost nothing in importance and usefulness during the past year. At the date of our last annual report, Prof. R. S. Bingham was filling the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of Prof A. J. Swain, who had had charge of the school with great satisfaction, for more than ten years. Mr. Bingham resigned at the close of the year to accept a superintendency of schools at Cedar Falls, Iowa.

The Committee had the rare good fortune to secure Prof. L. S. Hastings, A. M., as Principal, who began his work at the opening of the present school year. We point with pride to the work which has been accomplished during his administration.

Mr. Hastings graduated from Dartmouth College in 1870. For a time, succeeding his graduation, he was tutor in that institution, which, if other evidence were wanting, shows the regard in which he was held by his alma mater. For six years previous to his engaging with us, he was Principal of the High School in Framingham, Mass. A ripe scholar, a thorough, practical and pleasing instructor, and possessing rare abilities as an organizer, he is eminently fitted to conduct the school to a high standard.

No other changes in teachers have been made during the year. Miss R. Annie Barker, A. M., a graduate from the University of Vermont, and a lady of rare accomplishments, has been an assistant for three years. Always popular, and evidently growing more so, she has done her best work the present year.

Miss M. L. Moore has been in the school nearly two years. A graduate of New Hampton Literary Institution, scholarly and conscientious, of large experience in the profession, she is a very efficient and useful teacher.

With such a corps of able instructors, nothing should prevent the school's reaching a degree of excellence unsurpassed by any similar institution of learning.

The number of scholars now in attendance is just one hundred. Seventeen of these are non-residents and pay tuition. More than twenty of the resident scholars are from districts outside the village limits. The average attendance is considerably larger than that of former years. The deportment of the scholars is generally satisfactory.

The Treasurer's report, showing the financial operations of the Committee, is appended.

REPORT OF TRUSTEES OF STEVENS HIGH SCHOOL FUND.

The amount of this fund in the hands of the Trustees is the same as reported last year, $ 10,000. The income for the year 1881, $ 600, has been paid into the town treasury. The Legacy bequeathed by the late Paran Stevens, $40,000, remains as heretofore and it is uncertain when the amount will be paid over to the town, as the affairs of the estate are in litigation. We have no doubt regarding the ultimate payment, as the several legacies in the will have been declared by the court a lien upon the real estate, the value of which is much more than the amount of the legacies. We would suggest the employment of attorneys in New York to urge in the courts such action as shall hasten the settlement of the Stevens Estate, and the payment of the legacy to the town of Claremont with interest.

Superintending School Committee.
For 1881-'82.

A year has rolled around since my last report and another time for accounting has come.

Upon careful review there appears nothing sensational and little even of marked and peculiar importance to record. The Superintendent has labored by all means in his power to waken the schools of the Town to a new and better life. Against this there are many obstacles. One of these is the fact that the people are too well content with the present condition. Another is the faulty way in which we are districted (if districted we must be, at all)—making a great number of small schools. And, again, is the fact that among all our teachers, so few are qualified either by training or experience, to do any but the most ordinary quality of school work. Of those who lack special training, a few by natural force grow into valuable instructors, but the greater part by long practice, degenerate into mere teaching machines.

The schools in the village are doing good work, as good, probably as can be expected. District No. 1 has four grades thoroughly classified and each performing well its allotted task. The present condition of the building on Broad St. renders comparison between it and the very commodious and well-appointed house on High St. unfortunate for the former. I refer especially to the too well-worn floors and the lack of much needed blackboards.

The ambitious scholars of No. 15 find themselves at a serious disadvantage when the two-grade system, of that district, is compared with the facilities offered by Nos. 1 and 17. Nothing can put them upon an equality except some form of union, with one or other of those districts, either as to all or a portion of their pupils.

I am glad to say that public opinion, in the village, is satisfied with nothing short of thorough qualification for and entire devotion to their work on the part of the teachers of these schools. It cannot be supposed that the standard will be allowed to decline in the future.

It will scarcely be credited but it is true that the poorest work now done throughout the town is in the very elementary branches of reading, writing and spelling.

The rural schools are all "mixed," and, I trust, are working up, even if slowly. No pains have been spared by your committee in endeavoring to impress upon the people, the teachers and the children the necessity for constantly striving for better things. That these efforts are entirely vain cannot be supposed, nevertheless there is no use in expecting marked improvement in the schools while they are so numerous and so small; while the pay of the teacher is so inadequate, and her position, through isolation and low popular esteem, so unsatisfactory. New faces now and then appear in the school rooms but the animus is the same all along. The old dull routine and the old lack of intelligent method still prevail in cases not a few.

When the people become dissatisfied with these schools and districts are re-arranged so as to reduce the number from sixteen to less than half as many; when trained teachers become the rule and not the exception, and their position is made attractive by better pay and by reasonable social consideration, then and not till then will there be a substantial basis for improvement. We ought to have no school with less than thirty scholars. We could then afford and ought to pay teachers seven or eight dollars per week (with board at 2.00 or less) for not less than thirty-six weeks per year. Help these teachers to consider their position in the community as an important one. Cordially assist them to avail themselves of the town library and the Teachers' Association. Make the situation permanent to the successful. Introduce these changes and offer these inducements and there would be no difficulty in giving every child in town the best advantages which modern methods and modern culture afford. A call for teachers, based upon such conditions, would bring to our aid just the trained talent which we require and the supply of such would not fail.

There is nothing visionary about this, for the town of Claremont spends every year for schools more than enough to accomplish it all. There is, however, something needed besides money. It would be necessary that all connected with schools should have an eye single to the good of the schools and of their children in them. There could be no thought indulged as to how the school-money can be made to enrich the district or any of the dwellers in it, nor how it can furnish pocket money for this or that one's daughter or sister or aunt. It is a sacred trust. Good schools, and long terms should be the only object of desire. And there would be needed some special exertion in getting children to the school, further removed than theretofore from some homes, as it must be. There surely is nothing unreasonable in all this for wherefore is school-money raised but for schools, and wherefore are schools established but to teach children in the best manner. Our town is one of the most desirable in the state for residence, it raises money in abundance; nothing is now lacking but the intelligent will to place it in the front rank educationally. There is no difficulty in making the necessary changes. Let the people indicate their readiness to move and the whole thing can be readily accomplished, in whatever form desired.

The Superintendent was pleased to find in District No. 10, a very neat and commodious new school building, taking the place of one that has probably had more hard words flung at it by past superintendents than any other house in town.

An Association for the benefit of teachers has been maintained during the past fall and winter. It is regretted that too many of those for whose benefit it was established seemed to consider the matter of attendance as merely a question of taste and inclination, which was not the way it was regarded by the Superintendent. Young ladies who teach away from the village, cannot be expected to walk to the meetings. It is suggested that it must be, in the long run, worth the while of persons, in such districts, to see that their teachers have facilities needed for the purpose of attending the Association.

The Superintendent again calls the attention of prudential committees to the propriety of attending to the small repairs of the school-houses under their charge, as soon as they are needed.

It is the opinion of the Superintendent that the schools of this town will, in the near future, be taught by persons rendered expert by previous special training. It is an ancient mistake that the ability to conduct a school comes by nature, even as Justice Dogberry says of reading and writing. All persons intending to teach, are advised to attend, for a sufficient time upon some well-conducted Normal School. The Superintendent admits that experience has modified his views on this point.

Since the statute empowers the Superintendent to make all regulations deemed by him necessary to the conducting of a school it clearly places upon him, measurably, the responsibility for its success. It follows then that no teacher can lawfully hold himself as above or beyond the wise control of the Superintendent in any thing appertaining to the school.

In making up the Roll of Honor the Superintendent has instructed the teachers to place no names thereon except such as, besides perfect regularity and punctuality in attendance, have an equally high standing upon the record in respect to habits of study and deportment.

The Report of the Superintendent of Schools in District No. 17.

The Superintendent of District No. 17 respectfully reports that all the schools of the district have been managed with marked success during the usual terms of the year. The prevalence of the measles was a hindrance to the best results in the Summer term. All the schools were affected by it and the Intermediate school was closed one week sooner on account of it.

With a single exception the different schools have been taught by the same teachers through the year. Miss Fannie A. Spencer, who had had charge of the Primary School on the Terrace for more than five years, resigned at the close of the summer term on account of her health. Her place has been filled the last two terms by Miss Kate A. Brooks. Taking up this work with comparatively small experience, Miss Brooks, by kindliness, decision and fidelity, gives promise of great usefulness as a teacher in the primary school. Success in this department requires a rare combination of good qualities.

The Superintendent congratulates the District on retaining the faithful services of such able teachers from term to term through the year. This continuous labor of the same teacher from term to term and year after year, is one of the surest means for best work, securing the true end of the school. It seems desirable that the same course shall be pursued in future, so far as may be.

The appearance of the schools during the terms and at the closing examinations, has been more satisfactory than heretofore, giving evidence of improved methods, and skill in using them. This has been specially manifest in Reading and arithmetic. A change of Arithmetics, without cost, has aided much in that study. We may expect more in future.

The Superintendent would also express his hearty approval of the singing exercise in the schools, and his belief that it contributes in different ways to the ends of education.

The Roll of Honor has been made out on attendance simply, but the Superintendent thinks that it may be well hereafter to include deportment also as its basis.

The statistics of the schools are reported in the accompanying table, which will be found combined with that of the other schools in town on page 32.

Respectfully submitted, M. H. WELLS,

REPORT OF THE COMMITTEE ON TRUANCY.

Your committee appointed at the last Town Meeting to investigate all matters connected with the non-attendance of legal scholars upon our public schools, under the Truancy acts, and to take such action as they may deem expedient respectfully report: At a very early date we called together the employing manufacturers of the town for consultation. All interested heartily concurred in the conclusion that the interest of the community required appropriate and judicious action in the premises. Correspondence was also had with the authorities of other towns and cities in the state relative to this matter.

We employed Mr. M. S. Rossiter to canvass the village for the purpose of ascertaining how many children were out of school contrary to law. He reports that thirteen, between the ages of ten and fifteen had not been at school at all, and that he found fifty-three whose average attendance during the year was only ten weeks.

While no cases have been pushed by prosecution, a pressure has been exerted by which many children have been brought to school who would otherwise have been on the street, or been at work contrary to the statute for such cases provided.

The Committee recommend that the town insist that all its children attend the public schools, and that it continue its efforts, by special committee or otherwise, in order that our youth may not be suffered to grow up in ignorance and vice.
